ABC REVOKES LICENSE OF BEER AND WINE MARKET

Santa Ana -Investigators from the California Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control (ABC) have posted a license revocation notice at the J&L Beer and Wine Market, 4622 West First Street in Santa Ana.

The action was taken because of multiple sales to minors at the location.

The license revocation will take effect immediately and no new license can be issued for this location for a period of one year. The ABC must approve any new license. ABC Director Jerry Jolly said, "By revoking the license of this market, it will help in the fight against the problem of underage drinking."

According to ABC records, on January 23, 2004, the licensee sold alcoholic beverages to two underage patrons (16 & 17) and furnished the alcohol to them in a backpack owned by one of the minors. The licensee waited to make the sale after undercover investigators left the location. On March 12, 2004, an employee of the licensee sold beer to an eighteen year old patron.
